2010 Community Impact

If you were to ask Youth In Need’s clients what the word “success” means, you would likely get answers far beyond the typical entry in a dictionary. And while success is different for each of our clients, it is no less powerful.

At Youth In Need, success manifests itself in many ways, but one thing is certain: Success happens one child, one family at a time.

- When a child finds a safe and loving foster home with parents who offer security and stability, that’s success.
- When a family uses counseling to learn how to communicate with one another again after a crisis, that’s success.
- When a preschooler improves his reading skills and is better prepared to enter kindergarten, that’s success.
- When a teenager with no family support learns critical life skills to make her capable and successful on her own, that’s success.

All of this and more happened for 11,434 children, teens and families through eight programs at more than 35 locations in six counties. And it happened because of every one of Youth In Need’s supporters. Thank you!

Annual Highlights

MARCH

The 23rd annual Celebration of Youth honored Virginia Boschert and Frank and Charline Martinez and raised more than $280,000. Supporters who couldn’t attend the event were able to participate in the celebration by watching a 30-minute online program, live from Ameristar Casino Resort Spa. The program shared information about Youth In Need’s programs via interviews and video content.

APRIL

- The National Head Start Association recognized Tammie Benton, Assistant Head Start Director, as Administrator of the Year. Benton’s national award came after receiving the Administrator of the Year award at the state and regional levels as well.

- Thanks to the leadership of volunteer and donor Lindsey Johnson-Jacobs, Youth In Need began Future Leaders Youth In Need (FL-YIN), a young professionals group to engage a new generation of supporters. The group has put the “fun” in fundraising with social fundraisers, a supply drive and a trivia night. The group raised more than $5,000 and volunteered more than 150 hours in its first year!

- Anjon Manufacturing and World Outdoor Emporium in Wentzville held a Pond Forum Education Seminar, where more than $5,000 in proceeds benefited Youth In Need. The seminar delivered instruction and hands-on learning on how to design, build and maintain professional ponds and waterfalls.

MAY

- Youth In Need added a four-legged staff member to its team of service providers. Waco, a chocolate Lab, who has been trained as an animal assisted therapy dog by St. Louis-based Support Dogs, Inc., began working with 3- to 5-year-olds at the Wentzville Head Start and Early Head Start Center. His job is to provide a comforting presence and emotional calm to the n an economy that continues to face challenges, and with many government funding sources in decline, it’s not uncommon to hear of nonprofit agencies that have had to reduce services. Not so for Youth In Need. Despite reductions in some government funding this past year, Youth In Need not only continued all previous service levels, but it also significantly expanded services to reach even more children and families.

Thanks to you, our donors, we replaced all the dollars that were lost to government cutbacks in 2010. We received help from many new contributors, and our historic donors continued, and in many cases, increased their support, which allowed us to maintain core service levels.

We also expanded services primarily in St. Louis County as funding was awarded to highly qualified agencies as a result of the passage of the Putting Kids First ballot initiative in 2008. Youth In Need received $1.8 million from the St. Louis County Children’s Service Fund to expand transitional living services for homeless youth, street outreach crisis intervention and counseling services for at-risk youth. An exciting part of this expansion was an innovative collaboration between Youth In Need and Behavioral Health Response and funded by the Children’s Service Fund. The St. Louis County Youth Connection Helpline is the first in the nation to provide youth with 24-hour access to professional counselors through both phone calls and text messaging. The Helpline also dispatches Youth In Need staff to any of the hundreds of our Safe Place program locations, such as QuikTrip and Walgreens stores, where youth use the Safe Place program to get immediate help for housing or safety.

Our Head Start and Early Head Start programs also grew as the agency opened two new early childhood centers in Troy and Montgomery City. The additions were possible because of federal expansion funds that were part of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009. Youth In Need was the only Head Start provider in eastern Missouri to receive both Head Start and Early Head Start expansion funds. These grants allowed Youth In Need to serve an additional 211 preschool-aged children and their families and add more than 40 new full-time staff positions. These families had been on our waiting list previously, and the expanded services will help unemployed and low-income families secure work and job training as their children are provided high quality early learning opportunities.

While Youth In Need was adding staff to its agency family, we also celebrated a new kind of staff member in 2010. Waco, a chocolate Lab animal assisted therapy dog, joined the ranks of Head Start staff at the Wentzville Center to provide emotional support and a comforting presence to the preschoolers there. This groundbreaking project is the first time in the country that an assistance dog has been trained to work with an entire early childhood classroom on a full-time basis.

Last year was not without its challenges, however. A few months after Waco arrived at Wentzville, a severe August storm with tornado-level winds blew through late one night and tore off the Center’s roof, causing significant damage. While the center remained closed for construction for nine months, remarkably, there was no disruption in services to our children and families. Community supporters and staff rallied to ensure that services would continue despite the damage. The Wentzville Center celebrated a grand reopening this spring and the staff, children and Waco are enjoying a beautifully reconstructed center.
preschoolers there. Whether he is greeting his young friends with a tail wag or tongue lick in the morning, sharing in circle time or cuddling up for a nap, Waco has created an entirely new environment in the classroom. In what used to be an emotionally charged classroom, wrought with meltdowns and other behavior issues, Waco’s presence has virtually eliminated those incidents and increased the students’ ability to focus and learn. Teachers have noticed a definite change since his arrival and fully expect Waco to have a long-term impact on the students’ academic performance. This is the first time in the country that an animal assisted therapy dog has been trained to work with an entire early childhood classroom on a full-time basis.

JUNE

- “Dreams of Youth In Need,” a touching video about Youth In Need’s impact, won an IABC Gold Quill Award of Excellence from the International Association of Business Communicators. This award is the top-tier level of the international competition, where the film scored a 6.07 out of a possible 7.0. Diane Asyre, communications consultant and award-winning film producer, volunteered to produce this video for Youth In Need’s Celebration of Youth gala. Several of Asyre’s film contacts also donated their services, including Richard Chapman, Tor Hyams and Scott Huegerich.

JULY

- Shearwater High School, a St. Louis Charter School for homeless and at-risk youth, became its own fiscal agent. Youth In Need had filled that role during the school’s planning and implementation. Currently, the school is located on the Ranken Technical College Campus.

- The Transitional Living Program (TLP) celebrated eight of its residents who graduated from high school or earned their GEDs. Staff held a party in their honor. This was the first time TLP had such a large number of graduates at the same time.

- The Head Start program celebrated the opening of two new centers in Montgomery City and Troy. The addition of the new locations came after Youth In Need received $2.4 million in federal stimulus dollars to expand child development and family support services in St. Louis City and St. Charles, Lincoln, Warren and Montgomery Counties.

AUGUST

- Walgreens was the Title Sponsor at Youth In Need’s 13th annual Golfing for Youth Benefit Tournament. With more than 240 golfers nearly filling the two courses at Whitmoor Country Club in St. Charles, the tournament raised a record-breaking $115,000.

OCTOBER

- Walgreens’ Title Sponsor check to Youth In Need’s President and CEO Jim Braun.

- St. Louis County Children’s Service Fund awarded Youth In Need more than $1.8 million to provide transitional living program services, street outreach program crisis intervention services and youth and family counseling services to at-risk, underserved youth in St. Louis County. One notable aspect of the service expansion is an innovative collaboration between Youth In Need and Behavioral Health Response which will provide crisis intervention services through the new St. Louis County Youth Connection Helpline. Youth will access services via phone calls and texts as well as through neighborhood Safe Place sites. In total, the St. Louis County Children’s Service Fund board awarded $35,000,000 in the initial round of contracts, granting Youth In Need 5.4 percent of the total funding awarded. Forty-four agencies received funding, and only five organizations received funding amounts higher than Youth In Need.

- Texas Roadhouse opened a new location in St. Charles, where restaurant staff prepared for the grand opening with a “rehearsal” to benefit Youth In Need, raising more than $6,000 in tips and donations for the agency.

- Youth In Need thanked its volunteers and donors at a special fall festival. The first annual Many Hands, Many Hearts event recognized volunteers and donors for their impact on the agency. Several outstanding volunteers and community supporters received awards in five categories for their significant impact on the agency’s programs.

Community Involvement

Not only does Youth In Need rely on the charitable dollars that come from its generous supporters, but we also value the time they share and the items they collect for our children and families throughout the year.

In 2010, more than 900 individuals volunteered nearly 13,000 hours with Youth In Need.

Whether a group completes a one-time project or an individual commits to sharing time long-term, the impact is great. Projects range from painting and gardening to teaching teens how to play tennis and reading to preschoolers. No project is too big or too small for our stellar volunteers, and their talent and skills expand Youth In Need’s impact on children and families.

Having so many programs and sites means that there’s an equally large list of supplies to keep programs running smoothly. Donors have embraced the challenge to collect toiletries, household items, school supplies and holiday gifts.

In 2010, supporters donated nearly $19,000 to the Adopt-A-Class drive, which guarantees book bags and classrooms are stocked for learning. Individuals, businesses and community organizations also donated more than $69,000 in toys, clothes and educational items to the annual Holiday Drive.

Community support wouldn’t be what it is without the commitment of all of our Safe Place businesses. Safe Place is a national program that partners with community businesses to offer a temporary safe haven to youth in crisis. These youth friendly businesses are an entry point for youth to access any of Youth In Need’s services. In 2010, the number of Safe Place sites topped more than 400, making Youth In Need one of the largest Safe Place providers in the country.

As the Chairman of the Board of Directors, I know that three teams contributed to our 2010 success and the staying power of Youth In Need. The agency has a terrific Board that has responded in so many ways to support the children and families we serve. Side by side with the Board is the exceptional work of our highly talented and experienced management team and direct service staff who regularly go above and beyond.

And, of course, we thank you—our incredible donors, supporters, sponsors, volunteers and staff—for your commitment and compassion. Because of you, we have even more reasons to celebrate an outstanding 2010 that expanded and enhanced our mission of assisting children, youth and families, who are facing great adversity, to recognize their potential and achieve their goals.

Eliot Asyre
2010 Board Chair
Visionary Leaders Giving Society

Youth In Need’s Visionary Leaders Giving Society recognizes benefactors who have made a major investment in Youth In Need’s programs and mission. Youth In Need established the Visionary Leaders Giving Society to recognize individuals, businesses and organizations that have embraced Youth In Need’s mission and supported the organization with extraordinary generosity.

Donors are invited to join the Visionary Leaders Giving Society upon either investing in Youth In Need’s annual fund with a one-time cash gift of $100,000 or more (as of Dec. 31, 2010) or investing with smaller gifts to Youth In Need’s annual fund that cumulate and reach the $100,000 threshold (as of Dec. 31, 2010).

The Visionary Leaders Giving Society membership is based on all cash gifts to Youth In Need’s annual fund, excluding capital campaign contributions, auction purchases, raffles and other games of chance.

With gratitude, Youth In Need recognizes our Visionary Leaders Giving Society members. Thank you for your commitment to the children, teens and families we serve and for believing in the power of potential.
